Fair use and Copyright Declaration

Under the UK 1988 Copyright Act (as amended by the 2003 Copyright and Related Rights Regulations) and in accordance with UK CLIP Guidelines, you may request a maximum of one article from any individual issue of a journal and a maximum of one chapter from a book (or 5% of the book, whichever is the greater).

I am requesting the above from Tyndale House for a non-commercial purpose or for private study. I declare that: a) I have not previously been supplied with a copy of the same material by Tyndale House or any other source; b) I shall not use the copy except for research for a non-commercial purpose or for private study and shall not supply a copy of it to any other person; c) To the best of my knowledge no other person with whom I work has made, or intends to make, a request for substantially the same material, or substantially the same purpose, or at about the same time as this request. I understand that if the declaration is false in any material particular, a copy supplied to me by you will be an infringing copy, and that I shall be liable for infringement of copyright as if I had made the copy myself.
